Gary Allison, the new Madison schools superintendent.

Superintendent takes over Finances first

By Mike Viola
Staff writer

Gary Allison spent the last month acclimating himself to his new job as superintendent of the Madison School District.

Allison, who resigned as financial director of the Cahokia School District to take over as Madison's superintendent, said the transition has been very smooth.

"I've changed previous jobs about six or seven times and this has been one of the most positive environments that I have ever joined," Allison said.

During his first month as the head of the Madison district, Allison has spent most of his time reviewing the financial status of the district.

He said there has been much discussion with district

National Steel firing 25

By Bob Slatke
Staff writer

Twenty-five non-union National Steel employees in the information technology department at Granite City will be fired at the end of the day Monday.

"All of them will be offered jobs with SHL Systemhouse Inc.," the company that National Steel has contracted with to perform information systems functions effective Aug. 1, said Bob Maxwell, manager for public relations at Granite City Steel.

National Steel, the parent company of Granite City Steel, announced Thursday that it had awarded a five-year contract with SHL, based in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, to provide information technology services.

The contract will call for SHL to assume operational responsibility for National Steel's information technology function while managing and executing the migration systems to a client-server environment.

Ron Doerr, vice president of information technology for National Steel, said the move will let National Steel concentrate on its core business.

According to an internal memo from Granite City Steel, under the terms of the deal, SHL will be responsible for all IT services relating to the day-to-day operations and maintenance of existing systems as well as

Goodwin named CEO

By Bob Slatke
Staff writer

A successful year under new leadership has led to the promotion of National Steel's top operating officer.

National Steel Corp., the parent company of Granite City Steel, announced Tuesday that V. John Goodwin has been appointed chief executive officer for the company, effective immediately.

Goodwin, who had been president and chief operating officer since June of last year, will continue in both of those posts. The CEO position had been vacant since the unexpected and unexplained resignation of Ron Doerr of Granite City last April.

"In the first 14 months of his presidency, Mr. Goodwin has engineered a remarkable turnaround in the company's performance," said Board Chairman Osamu Sawaragi. His energetic leadership, knowledge, decisionmaking and ability to actively involve our unions and employees in successful joint problem-solving processes have been key factors in the company's dramatic improvement."

developing, integrating, implementing and supporting IT systems.

National Steel's strategic IT functions, including business process engineering, setting strategic IT direction and developing the IT architecture.

"National Steel will retain the IT functions involving implementation, maintenance and operation. It will just be done by SHL employees," Maxwell said.

He said the intent is that current national Steel employees performing those functions will transfer to the corporation's other four division employees will continue to do so, although he conceded that SHL will be able to allocate its employees however it wishes.

Teen found guilty in beating of officers

By Bob Slatke
Staff writer

A Granite City teen was found guilty last week of beating three Granite City police officers last year.

Larry Severs Jr., 18, was found guilty by a Madison County jury of three charges of aggravated battery for beating three police officers last summer.

The jury found Severs not guilty of aggravated assault for allegedly pointing a gun at a police officer.

"We were very pleased with the verdict. We have always vigorously protected those who attack police officers in the course of their duties," said Madison County Sheriff's Attorney Bill Haine.

Officers responded to a call reporting a domestic disturbance at the Severs home in the 3000 block of Willow Avenue at about 11:15 a.m. June 18. Several officers were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center following the confrontation with Severs. Severs was also hospitalized.

No agreement on Kuehnle

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

After almost two hours of negotiations Tuesday evening between Pontoon Beach officials and former police dispatcher Andrea Kuehnle, the two sides failed to reach an agreement. Kuehnle's attorney, Jim Williams, said he wanted to have her reinstated, but he was unsure exactly what he and Kuehnle would agree to. Kuehnle was recently acquitted of obstructing justice. She had been suspended without pay.

A Madison County jury found Kuehnle not guilty of obstructing justice due to an allegation that she advised the mother of a 12-year-old Pontoon Beach girl to destroy an incriminating note in Sept. 1991.

The alleged note accused the girl's father of sexually abusing her.

The father later pleaded guilty to the sexual abuse charges and is currently in jail.

Both Kuehnle and the mother were indicted by a Madison County grand jury in 1993 for conspiring to destroy the evidence. At the trial charges against Kuehnle were slightly modified.

Plant's foe is targeted

Hearing centers on Kathy Andria's statements

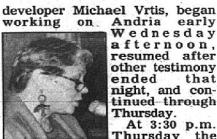

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Hearings on a proposed wood-to-energy plant in Madison entered the third day as attorneys for the city and developer attempted to discredit project opponent Kathy Andria.

Testimony ended at about 7:45 p.m. Thursday. The only part of the hearing left was to inventories the evidence, which began at 9 a.m. Friday.

All of Thursday's hearing was devoted to Andria.

Bensman and Andria are the two principal opponents of the project.

The attack on Andria began early Wednesday afternoon after proponents had finished presenting their case.

Village Green Mobile Home Park owner Ed Zeman has invited the people he will be attending a special meeting Tuesday.

Prairie State Games went smoothly

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

The 12th annual Prairie State Games proved to be a happy homecoming for Mike Moore.

The amateur sports festival — which divided itself into eight regions for Olympic-style competition — was held July 21-23 at several venues throughout the Metro East.

The games were in Champaign for 10 years before moving to Peoria in 1994.

"We're real happy with the way things went," said Moore, a Belleville native who serves as co-executive director of the games along with his wife, Debbie. "There are always areas where we can improve. We're having a meeting shortly with all of our key people, and we'll start to make plans."

For several years, the Moores commuted from Belleville to Springfield (the original site of the PSG

"That made a world of difference, and it's why the organization of the games was as smooth as it's ever been."

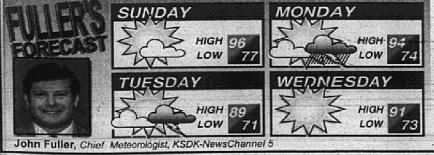

More than 1,000 people attended to hear meetings on a daily and weekly basis with people we need to see."

OPINION

My view

Reading, viewing favorites to beat summertime heat

The dog days of summer are upon us once again. It's hotter than heck outside, and most of us are longing for a little time off between now and Labor Day. Here are a few ways to enjoy your time.

How about a good book? Tom Clancy's techno-thriller "Debt of Honor," a realistic tale of a not-too-distant war with Japan, has been popular. If you're looking for a little more serious reading, Gail Sheehy's "New Passages" takes up where her landmark book "Passages" left off and chronicles what she calls the new map of adult life.

Some regular favorites have new offerings out. Frederick Forsyth has a new novel, "Fist of God," and Mary Higgins Clark has a new mystery, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Leon Uris is back with "Redemption."

All I need to make my reading summer complete is a new Tony Hillerman novel, but there appears to be nothing in sight.

Don Miller

If you're looking for a good movie, there are plenty of good ones to choose from this summer.

"Apollo 13," starring Tom Hanks, is a great movie about a real event. This is the kind of movie that the audience actually applauds when the movie is over. Don't miss this one.

"Nine Months," starring Hugh Grant, is one of those movies the critics like to trash but audiences love. This movie is not one that you'll smile about; rather, it's a hold-on-to-your-sides, laugh-until-you're-sore, movie.

Tom Arnold plays the world's most obnoxious car salesman who likes to videotape his children's births, and Robin Williams is hilarious as a Russian veterinarian trying to deliver his first baby. The fight scene between Tom Arnold and a 6-foot-tall dinosaur in a toy shop is worth the price of admission all by itself.

If the legend of King Arthur and his Roundtable did not already exist, we would have to invent it to satisfy all the versions of King Arthur, a role he was born to play. "First Knight," the latest version of the Arthurian legend, is not a perfect movie, but it's a good watch and a fine way to spend a summer's eve. It's nice to dream a little once in a while, even if Camelot is long lost for most of us.

And speaking of dreaming, Sandra Bullock is absolutely fantastic in "You Were Sleeping," a romantic comedy that still is showing in a few local movie houses. No car chases, fireworks, sex or violence — just a delightful little movie about family.

Looking for a family movie? "The Indian in the Cupboard" is an enjoyable movie for children and adults. Disney's summer offering, "Pocahontas," is beautifully crafted and entertaining for both children and their parents. Young children seem to be fascinated by the movie version of "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers." You may want to drop the kids off for this one, as it is strictly child's fare.

Rather not go out in the heat at all? Looking for something for the VCR? If you missed it in the theaters, be sure to get Tim Robbins' "Shishamani." Redefining art, this movie was generally overlooked by the public when it was in theater release, but it is well worth watching.

Any good books or movies out there I have missed? Drop me a line and let me know.

THE VOICE BOX:

What shows do you think are the best and worst of television?

By SHIRLEY VALENCIA

Kathryn Huff Granite City
"The worst show is 'Beavis and Butt-head.' The show has no message. 'ER,' 'MD' and 'Law and Order' are the best. They are educational and informative. They deal with everyday life."

Robert Hoffman Granite City
"'E.R.' is one of the best. It's so interesting and exciting. The 'Law and Order' show is the worst there is; absolutely no sense to the show. It's a bad influence on our young children."

Beverly Graham Granite City
"'Seinfeld' is the best. They make everyday things we do funny. They are truly funny. 'Beavis and Butt-head' (is) the worst; it speaks for itself."

Clark Duke Granite City
"The Discovery Channel is the best. I watch it a lot. The rest of television has too much trash on it."

Betty Duke Granite City
"The Heat of the Night" is especially like Bubba. The show is a good chick show. The show is 'N.Y.C. Blue.' It's full of violence, sex and crime and I think it's a bad influence on our youth."

Talkin' baseball — From left, Kent Gardner of Belleville, Babe Champion of Granite City, Bill Schmidt of Waterloo and Whitey Herzog were among those attending a reunion for former baseball players in the area recently at Bolin-Schulkrat Park in Columbia. ## New chickenpox vaccine may relieve symptoms

A new chickenpox vaccine may save future generations of children from the itchy, ugly bumps of chickenpox and all the misery that goes with them.

Most local pediatricians have the vaccine or can get it, area pediatricians said.

The vaccine was approved by the Food and Drug Administration in March.

The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends the vaccine be given routinely to children between 12 and 18 months of age who have not had chickenpox. Older children also may get the vaccine in a single dose, but teens over 13 and adults need two doses four to eight weeks apart.

Chickenpox is a contagious viral disease that children, causing a fever and blisterlike eruptions.

Although the disease is not usually dangerous, it can be followed by complications.

Complications and fatalities are more likely to occur in older people or people with immune system disorders. Almost 4 million people in the country get chickenpox each year.

In families where both parents work, the vaccine may be good medicine. Because it may be seven to 10 days before everything is scabbed over, that could mean lost school days and disrupted work schedules.

The vaccine costs $60 per dose and many health plans will cover the cost.

The vaccine is effective in about 70 percent of the people who get it. You can still get the chickenpox, even if you've had the vaccine, but it will be a milder illness with maybe only two or three lesions.

Debit cards can now be used for tax payments

Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus has announced that his office can now accept payments from taxpayers using bank debit cards bearing the "BankMate" logo.

"By accepting debit cards, I am continuing to move my office of county treasurer, as I pledged to do in my campaign, last year," Shimkus said.

Debit cards are a direct obligation on the users' bank account. The use of debit cards will eliminate the possibility of "bouncing" checks.

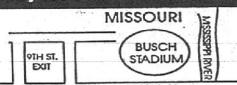

"After Dec. 1, we do not accept checks. This usually means that customers must pay in cash or with a bank cashier's check. Now, they can use their debit card and skip the extra trip to the bank."

The treasurer's office is the first public office in Madison County to accept payment by debit cards.

The first installment of real estate taxes is due by Aug. 5, and the second installment is due by Oct. 5.

Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra discusses St. Louis-Metro East cooperation.

St. Louis-Metro East link needed, he says

By Rosemary Hicks
Staff writer

Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra stressed economic cooperation between the Metro East and St. Louis to city officials and business leaders Tuesday.

"Illinois must be an equal partner with Missouri in an effort to link the two areas together," said Kustra, who was appointed by Gov. Jim Edgar to improve Illinois economy.

"There is potential for economic development and coordination on both sides of the river."

The meeting may have been a continuation of Kustra's round-table discussions with members of the business community and Metro East economic development officials.

The meeting took place at the Belleville Economic Progress Inc. office.

He pointed out the parallel goals Illinois share with the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association, which include encouraging business development, recruiting new businesses and strengthening competition between business, labor and government.

Kustra named several successful, cooperative efforts — the Metrolink, Interstate 255, the Rock Bridge, completion of the Martin Luther King Bridge and the 1994 Olympic Festival.

"This area is ripe and ready for economic development with the construction of the Mid-America Airport and Metrolink," said Joseph Cipri, president of Belleville Area College. "There is no rival in the state in potential in economic growth."

Participants mentioned several problems that would hinder the development of jobs and the increase of economy in the area.

Workers' compensation laws make it difficult for Illinois to bring in businesses when Missouri has lower rates.

Drainage problems caused flooding inland this year.

There is a need for another bridge across the Mississippi River to relieve the current traffic problems.

Bi-state cooperation for regional economic growth also was the focus of discussions Kustra had Tuesday with Godfrey, Jerseyville and Hardin officials.

ADA marks five years

About 100 people, including many with disabilities, their families and supporters, gathered at Granite City's 50th Anniversary Wednesday of the Americans with Disabilities Act at IMPACT Inc. in Alton.

"ADA's been a positive experience for a lot of folks with disabilities," said Dick Goodwin, executive director of IMPACT.

The federal Americans with Disabilities Act became law July 26, 1990, and IMPACT, an advocacy group for people with disabilities, held an open house to mark the occasion.

The law declares basic civil rights for people with disabilities by requiring accessibility to public buildings and requiring that employers and public places make reasonable accommodations for people with disabilities, Goodwin said.

IMPACT has helped more than 200 businesses and local governments comply with ADA requirements and will continue to do so, Goodwin said.

In the five years since ADA passed, business owners are starting to feel more comfortable with the provisions as it relates to the ADA's requirements are not as unreasonable as they feared, he said.

In summer, family fitness comes alive

Family fitness seems to come alive during the summer months when the weather begins to cooperate and the outdoors becomes the natural setting for exercise.

Whether your family is interested in walking, running, specific exercises or a combination, the perfect place for the entire family's needs can be found at the fitness trail.

FITNESS TRAILS can provide a variety of exercise options for each member of the family. Some members may choose to walk the trail while others enjoy running. And some may also enjoy stopping at the designated stations to try the exercises listed.

The exercises posted at many of the trails allow you to choose different options depending on your individual fitness level. Before beginning any fitness trail workout, remember to start at the beginning and read all the information about the trail, the exercise plan provided and how you fit into the trail's program. If your family is just beginning an exercise program, the first (beginner's) level should be followed. Don't try and master the trail on your first try.

Most fitness trails in the area offer a series of stretching exercises at the first few stations. But, if your family has decided to use the trail for walking or running, warm-ups and cool-downs are important to avoid fitness injuries.

Before hitting the trail

Gentle static stretching is actually a part of the warm-up cool-down process that is important for preventing unnecessary pain and injury. Stretching before exercise limbers tight muscles and improves joint flexibility which can reduce

Doctors agonize over ability to predict cancer

Janet didn't need a doctor to tell her something was wrong.

For many years, she had watched as breast cancer stalked her family. Her mother was diagnosed in 1978 at the age of 47. Her aunt was struck a year later. Then the 22-year-old daughter was next, then another daughter, then one of Janet's sisters.

The two cousins and the sister died, and in 1992, the shadow fell on Janet. She, too, had breast cancer. She was 40 years old.

By then, Janet's sister Susan, four years younger and free of a history of disease, could not stand waiting for what she viewed as the inevitable. She decided to do the only thing she could to avoid the tragedy that had befallen her mother, aunt, cousins and sisters. She scheduled surgery to have both healthy breasts removed.

Janet and Susan — who used assumed names to protect their privacy — told their story last fall to several hundred geneticists and others gathered in Montreal for the annual meeting of the American Society of Human Genetics.

As Janet began, the audience fell silent. The room, which voices filled the cavernous hall, where doctors and researchers were beginning to grapple with a problem unlike any they had faced before.

Last year, the mystery behind the shadow that fell on the women of Janet's family was solved. Researchers identified the gene causing the breast cancer in families like hers.

But the discovery did little to lift the shadow. Instead, it brought with it a fearsome power. For the first time, doctors could predict decades in advance, which members of those families would get cancer and which would not.

Within weeks of the discovery, Susan became one of the first

'These genes for cancer are getting cloned willy-nilly. Testing would have potential benefits if we knew what to recommend. But we don't.'

— Dr. Francis Collins

Last year, researchers discovered genes that make it possible to identify individuals at risk in families ravaged by colon cancer. More such genes are sure to follow, Collins said.

"We're getting genes for cancer are getting cloned willy-nilly. Testing would have potential benefits if we knew what to recommend. But we don't."

A few years ago, doctors found the gene for Huntington's disease, a crippling and ultimately fatal nerve disorder that killed folk singer Woody Guthrie. They're close to finding a gene for Alzheimer's disease.

Collins is among many geneticists who see a crisis building. Predictable to make money, it is coming not only from patients like Janet and Susan, but also from biotechnology companies, which stand to make a fortune selling test kits.

This new ability to predict cancer raises a host of vexing scientific and ethical questions. How should the tests be interpreted outside the research lab? Should testing be offered to anyone? What kind of psychological support should be provided?

Cancer testing also is likely to have a disastrous impact on patients' health insurance. Insurance companies may drop coverage for people carrying cancer genes. And as the ability to test for such genetic groups, the pool of people excluded from coverage could grow.

"We are all carrying around pre-existing conditions, and we're learning more about how to find them," Collins said. "Pretty soon, we're all going to be uninsurable."

A further problem is that the government hasn't decided what it should do about the accuracy of the new gene tests and ensure they aren't misused.

Report frowns on surgery

Low tech for lower back

Chiropractors get a boost and surgeons a setback as new guidelines on how to treat low back pain.

For most sufferers, the guidelines say, problems will go away on their own within a month.

In the interim, the experts said the best advice is to spend no more than two or three days in bed, take over-the-counter painkillers at strict moderate, low-stress exercise such as walking or swimming as soon as possible.

The new guidelines for acute low back pain, frown on surgery and a host of high-cost tests — including x-rays, CT scans and magnetic resonance imaging. They dismiss unproven treatments as spinal traction, biofeedback, transcutaneous electrical nerve stimulation, acupuncture, steroids and injections.

But they say spinal manipulation, usually performed by a chiropractor, "can be helpful for patients with acute low back problems within the first few days of symptoms."

Up to 20 percent of adults suffer low back problems each year, and four out of five will experience the agonizing problem at least once before their 50th birthday.

The new guidelines offer back sufferers reassurance that "there are safe, effective, low-cost ways to feel better and get back to regular activities while your back heals on its own," said Dr. Philip K. Lee, executive secretary for health and head of the Public Health Service.

Dr. Stanley J. Bigos, professor of orthopaedic surgery at the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle and chairman of the 23-member panel of experts, said the guidelines offered "new hope to those who have suffered from the myriad of approaches to acute low back problems."

Too often in the past, Bigos said, doctors have sent patients to bed, given extended periods, given them "disabling painkillers" and ordered "needless, confusing tests."

The experts said surgery helped only about 100 people with chronic back problems. Extensive diagnostic tests are in order only for those patients who a doctor suspects might have a fracture, a tumor, or infection or severe nerve involvement.

The guidelines state, "even having a lot of back pain does not by itself mean you need medical treatment."

For nine out of 10 adults, the back problem will go away spontaneously within a month, even if it is a repeat episode. An ice pack applied to the painful area for five or 10 minutes may help in the first 48 hours. Beyond that, a heating pad or hot shower or bath may help.

The experts reviewed more than 3,900 studies in preparing the guidelines for the U.S. Agency for Health Care Policy and Research.

They were cause for rejoicing by chiropractors.

The guidelines validate what chiropractors have asserted for nearly 100 years and what millions of chiropractic patients already know: Spinal manipulation offers safe and effective relief for back problems without drugs or surgery," Lowry R. Morton, chairman of the board of the American Chiropractic Association, said at the federal agency's news conference.

Program tackles seniors' emotional problems

Approximately 10 percent of all older adults suffer from emotional problems.

Left untreated, these difficulties can impair a person's ability to function and even lead to life-threatening conditions.

Partial Hospital Programs help participants develop practical strategies coping effectively with the changes that often accompany growing older. Partial Hospital Programs provides comprehensive psychiatric treatment during the day, allowing participants to return home in the evening and on weekends.

Partial Hospital Programs are available to individuals ages 65 and older and their families. Programs are typically offered from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Transportation is normally provided to and from the programs. Functional assessments often are available to help determine whether a Partial Hospital Program session would be helpful to an older adult.

Treatment begins with a comprehensive psychiatric evaluation. Following the careful assessment of the older adult's emotional, behavioral, cognitive, physical and social needs, the PHP's multidisciplinary team of geriatric specialists works with the older adult and family to develop an individualized treatment program. An individual case manager tracks the progress of each participant and coordinates intensive discharge planning. Linkages with volunteer agencies and other resources serve as a bridge to the community following treatment at PHP.

"Older adults become isolated as they grow older, often creating additional emotional and physical problems," said Don Jones, program liaison for Rock Creek Center's Partial Hospitalization Program serving the Metro East. "We encourage seniors to form connections and develop the skills and habits necessary for healthy functioning."

followed after the confrontation.

Following a gun standoff and hand-to-hand combat, Severs — who had been trained in martial arts expertise — had been handcuffed and locked in a squad car when he managed to tear up the vehicle and dive head-first through a broken window of the squad, according to police reports.

"The officers at all times acted responsibly and with restraint," Haine said. "Mr. Severs injuries were the result of his own actions."

The jury deliberated for more than 10 hours Tuesday before returning with the verdict, Haine said.

He said that the not guilty verdict on the aggravated assault charge was an innocent plea with the guilty verdict on the three aggravated battery charges, not was it a reflection on the credibility of the officer who testified that Severs pointed a gun at him and pulled the trigger, but that the gun misfired.

"Aggravated assault requires proof of specific intent, while aggravated battery is a general intent crime similar to the intent behind attempted murder and murder. Specific intent is difficult to prove and I think the jury may have been confused by some of the testimony."

"But that is no reflection on (the officer's) credibility," Haine said.

Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said he is pleased with the verdict against Severs and with the prosecution by Assistant State's Attorney Rich Rybak.

"I was pleased that the state's attorney's office took it to trial rather than negotiate a plea. People who fight with police officers in the course of their duties should be charged with felonies and prosecuted on felony charges," Ruebhausen said.

"(Severs) ... has made comments about suing the police department. If I have anything to say about it, that too will go to trial and a jury will again find for the police department."

"It is important to realize that they can strike and hurt policemen, and when the officers defend themselves, they think they can sue for brutality," Ruebhausen said.

Haine agreed.

"The officers were responding to a domestic disturbance call where shots were reportedly fired and there were reports of shots all around," he said. "I obtained a response by the law," Haine said.

He said his office will insist on prison time for Severs "because of the extreme, repeated attacks on officers of the law."

"This kind of conduct must be punished," Haine said.

State official had told her residents of another mobile home park Zeman owns in Glen Carbon had also heard about the meeting and planned to be there.

The Pontoon Village Board has been debating what to do with the park, owned by Zeman, since its business seems to be not what it once was because of the many problems at the park.

The village had refused to issue occupancy permits, but recently allowed two new emerald green units following building inspections July 1. Those inspections turned up 72 different code violations.

Diazinon is great fast-acting, short-term controls. Oftanol is good for a longer-lasting control.

What exactly is one square mile of land? It's 640 acres, or 3,097,600 square yards.

27,878,400 square feet. The state of Missouri consists of nearly 69,000 square miles.

Experts have estimated that the insect population in one square mile of land equals approximately the total human population of the entire world.

How many insects in the world? Mind-boggling. The bugs are definitely here in great numbers, that's for sure. But there's good news to go along with it. Less than one percent of these insects are considered harmful or destructive. And from that group, only a minute number actually damage turf.

Most of these turf-destroying bugs do their dirty work by devouring the grass roots. And naturally that means you never know they're there until the damage shows up.

One of the more common insects to plague lawns in this country is the white grub. These critters are small, usually not more than an inch long and are grayish-white in color. They have brown heads and three pairs of legs. Not very pleasant, and what they do to lawns definitely isn't.

As we mentioned, these insects feed on the grass roots in fall and spring and could destroy your entire lawn if left unchecked. If they don't finish the job in the fall, they'll move deep into the soil during the winter, but they'll be back next spring.

How can you spot grub damage? A good indication of their presence is brown patches of dead lawn here and there around your yard. Another sign is that the brown turf will roll up easily, much like a carpet. And many times the bugs will be visible, the greatest concentration of them will be nearest the edges where the good grass is.

Fortunately there are products available to get rid of grubs. Dylox and

Player pipeline links area to 'Big Blue'

Knowing of the athletic exploits of Virgil Wagner, Al "Boots" Budde and Jim Jolley at Illinois State University, Decatur would be enough to support the theory that the Big Blue have had a pipeline to the southwestern Illinois area.

Yet, there's more to Millikin currently than a link with such former Belleville greats as the Big Blue are showing well in the form of several freshman recruits with football leading the way in incoming and returning student-athletes.

AS YOU MIGHT suspect, the line is being maintained by a Belleville connection featuring retired Belleville West High School athletic director Pete Hensel.

"He has got to get much of the credit," said Millikin football coach Carl Poelker.

Pete knows the type of individual we need athletically and academically.

The father of former Millikin lineman Rick Hensel, who played for the unbeaten Big Blue football team in 1989, Pete Hensel helped in the recruitment of eight southwestern Illinois players for the coming season.

"We were 6-3 last year and lost 21-19 to Waterloo Wesleyan for the conference (College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin) title, but we should be better this season," he said. "Pete has taken an 83-35 record into his 14th season on the NCAA Division III level."

THE FOOTBALL recruits? Even coaches on higher NCAA levels would envy Poelker.

The list includes (in alphabetical order): Jerome Baker (OFallon), 5-10, 170-pound tailback; Aaron Freidenberg (Belleville East), 5-11, 195, tailback; Tony Friedrich (Waukegan), 5-11, 180, defensive half-quarterback; Steven Gilbert (Christophers), 6-4, 175, offensive and defensive end; Michael Lewis (Columbia), 6-2, 195, tight end; Christopher Ezra (Collinsville), 5-8, 155, wide receiver-defensive end; Chris Stephens (Belleville East), 5-11, 175, defensive back; Chris Stephens (Belleville East), 5-11, 175, defensive back; Mark Winfield and Corey Dickerson have given manager Darren (See RIDENOUR, Page 4B) equally impressive is that the average ACT score for Millikin football last season was 24.

"We're playing on a level comparable to the rest of the Millikin student body," said Poelker.

AMONG THE PLAYERS returning from the '94 team are Carl Mays (6-2, 200), a senior defensive end, and Ben Williams (6-0, 200), a junior defensive end. At East St. Louis Senior High: Scott Smith (5-9, 160), a sophomore wide receiver from Roxana; Ryan Knox (6-0, 190), a senior safety from Alton; and Rod Johnson (5-11, 165), a junior wide receiver from Mascoutah.

How good will Millikin football be '95? Even that remains to be seen, but the team will have an area tie since Big Blue rival Augustana turns its coaching reins over to former Belleville resident Tom Schumacher.

Schumacher replaces coaching legend Bob Reade, who so dominated the CCIV that Millikin, which defeated Augustana three times under Reade, is the only conference school with more than one win over Reade.

OVERVIEW: Among the Millikin recruits for other sports are: men's basketball — Scott Ritter (Belleville East), a 6-foot forward, and Daniel Glover (Benton), a 6-foot forward; women's basketball — Beth Pritchard (Collinsville), a 5-foot forward; and golf — John Green, boys MVP at Granite City...

Among the enjoyable aspects of spending time with Poelker is his positive attitude. While referring to former East running back Todd Seelam, a four-year player at Millikin, Poelker said: "great young man and an outstanding family."

Paddlers divers finish perfect in conference

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

While the competition was a bit disappointing for the Paddlers' divers, the swimmers found no lack of it.

Visiting Summers-Port Swim Club in Gaffney on Tuesday, the Paddlers knew they would be in for the toughest meet of the year. But with several of its top divers absent, Summers-Port didn't have a chance against the Paddlers, who finished their dual-meet season undefeated.

Paddlers divers won a 61-19 decision over Summers-Port, and the dive team a perfect 5-0 record in the conference. It could have been 6-0, but the Summer Haven Club did not field a conference team this summer. In fact, that pool has closed indefinitely.

Meanwhile, the swimmers went up against the full regiment of the Summers-Port team, and ran into a relays buzzsaw. The Paddlers dropped the swim meet 373-279.

IN THE DIVING competition, the Paddlers started with an 8-1 lead after the first event and that gave every indication of how the meet would progress.

Paddlers dive coach Gayle McCormick said her team dove very well and was not disappointed in the lack of competition from what would have been the Paddlers' main threat this summer.

"There were four or five that didn't show up and it's hard to understand with the interface,"

Ridenour right fit for Clippers

Mon-Clair League newcomer steps up

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

As a rookie in the Mon-Clair League, it can sometimes be tough to fit into a lineup, especially when that lineup is the Granite City Clippers.

But Jeff Ridenour hasn't just fit in, he's thriving.

Ridenour is fresh off being named Most Valuable Player in the baseball competition at the Prairie State Games last weekend. Not bad for somebody who was just trying to fit in.

The lanky Ridenour is a part of a Clippers' group who will be in and immediately helped shore up a team which was already in pretty good shape.

THE CLIPPERS WERE at 18-2 in league play heading into Saturday's big doubleheader against Waterloo, the only team standing in the way of a Clippers' league championship.

Along with Ridenour, Mark Winfield and Corey Dickerson have given manager Darren (See RIDENOUR, Page 4B)

Group hoping to upgrade park fields

Dal Maxvill needs some friends.

Not the man, Dal Maxvill; he's got plenty of friends. What needs the help is the field named after Maxvill, also known as Diamond facility at Wilson Park 4-diamond facility.

OTHER FIELDS at Wilson Park need work as well, and the Park District, though not short of money, does not have the money needed to improve them.

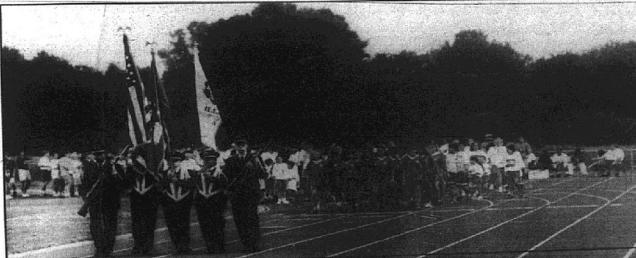

Enter the Friends of GC Area Parks, a volunteer group of Granite City baseball fans headed by Granite City Clippers general manager Tim Hogan.

The committee, which was formed just recently to help renovate the fields, is Darren DePew, Barb Chapman, Bob Shinn, Mike Ligman, John Moad, Steve Arbeiter, Paul Kacer and Harry Briggs.

That lineup represents a "Murderer's row" of Granite City baseball, and Hogan is optimistic the group can find the help needed to bring the park up to what amounts to a huge job.

"There are other people involved in the group but these are the ones who helped in the initial stage," Hogan said. "Our first priority is to begin improvements to Dal Maxvill. The second is to do something in the Park District, and that's why Friends was formed.

Southern site a success for '95 Games

By Scott Marion
Staff writer

One week after the conclusion of the 1995 Prairie State Games, Mike Moore is already thinking about the '96 games.

"I'm looking forward to next year," said Moore, who serves as co-executive director of the statewide amateur sports festival, along with his wife, Margaret. "We're already brainstorming some ideas about how we can do things better."

IT'S A 12-MONTH job for a foundation. Talk about fund-raising starts immediately and we're already planning publicity and promotions."

After being held in Champaign from 1984 to 1993, the games moved to Peoria last year. This was the first year in a three-year contract for Fairview Heights as the host city.

The 1996 Prairie State Games Events were held at SIU-East, Belleville, Belleville Area College and other sites in the Metro East.

"We had close to 5,000 people pre-register," Moore said. "For sports like archery, wrestling and bowling, they were taking applications right up to the day of competition." With 100 events for close to 5,300 participants, which is the largest ever for the final.

The total number of people included national, international and state. Several festivals are still coming up, including a three-on-three basketball tournament at BAC. We got great work from volunteers with lots of people from up north were really impressed with the quality of the facilities, particularly for volleyball. It was a surprise to see the Open division players, Walter Groom, was running ragged trying to get enough photos at every venue."

We did get calls from some legislators from Champaign who want to bid for the games again. The interest around the state is there, but we're certainly here for a three-year period."

THE GAMES WEREN'T officially moved from Peoria to Fairview Heights (the host city and site of the PSG office) until January.

"It's kind of amazing to the folks behind the scenes that we put it all together in six months," Moore said.

"The opening ceremonies (July 21 at SIEU's track and field soccer stadium) were a huge success. We got a lot of positive feedback from the regional directors."

It was probably the most exciting opening ceremonies I've seen since the games began in '84. The total number of people from up north were really impressed with the quality of the facilities, particularly for volleyball. It was a surprise to see the Open division players, Walter Groom, was running ragged trying to get enough photos at every venue."

Scholastic grapplers earn PSG medals

It was as it should have been: Granite City wrestlers picking up medals at the Prairie State Games.

Although several area wrestlers were out of town last weekend due to the junior national tournaments, Granite City still managed to earn its share of medals at the games, which ended last Sunday.

TOPPING THE LIST was Jeff Estrada, who took the scholastic men's 190-pound gold medal, defeating Travis Zimmerman of Bettendorf 6-3 for the title.

Also medaling in the scholastic competition was John Venne, who settled for a silver medal in the 170-pound class; he was defeated by Charles Fernandez in the gold medal match by a nail-biting 3-2 score.

In open competition, Pat Schaffer, a state classmate, was a state classmate, who took the bronze medal in the 125-pound class; and Tony Buchek, fresh off his second-place finish in the 132-pound class, also took second in the open 180-pound class.

Granite City Wrestling Club coach Alan Kirgan accompanied the team to the competition, which was held at Belleville East High School. Kirgan also officiated matches at the games.

"WE ENJOYED the competition, and the tournament was run very well from what we saw," Kirgan said. "The only problem we had with it was the local atmosphere of the games. Most of the teams from up north didn't participate; I assume that's because it was held here in the south."

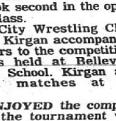

"That and the fact that the junior nationals were last weekend probably were the factors. I'm sure they will migrate here eventually if the games are (See PSG, Page 4B)

The O'Farrell Strikers brought home the gold in the U-15 boys, followed by the Collinsville United '91 Celts and the Belleville Fire & Ice.

Horoscope

Sunday, July 30
Lady Luck is magnanimous today. Ask for what you want — you'll get it plus a windfall surprise. Mars (village) and Jupiter (planetary) are likely to spread wealth around. Paying painstaking attention to health and hygiene superbly tones your physique.

ARIES (March 21-April 19).

Planning yields better-than-anticipated results. Small differences count more now where spending and investing are concerned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20).

A sudden influx of cash ignites your creative fire — spending is worthwhile on hobby supplies, aesthetic clothing or a romantic get-away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21).

Today's news is all great. Children turn on your pride, your mate adores you, and pals involve you over for lunch and sparkling talk.

CANCER (June 22-July 22).

You appreciate a chum who speaks from his or her heart. A best friendship deepens now.

Community activity—hums in involved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22).

Loved ones lavish you with attention — you hungrily lap up every drop.

Remember — turnabout's fair play. Chic boutiques call your name.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).

The romantic action is at home. Your love life's perking — your mate thrills to your sweet, enticing charms. Keeping a secret from a family member backfires — tell all.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22).

All choices are yours. Separating your wants from your mate's desires improves your relationship and less intimacy with fresh fire.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21).

Your financial status counts, but your personal reputation wields more clout. Promote your best image. A love interest can't stop calling.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21).

Intriguing projects, fascinating friends and easy money

— all are accessible to you now.

Chums plot your next love match.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19).

Your lusty spirit ranges wild and free. A friend's friend plucks a romantic chord on your heartstrings — this looks like a great love match.

AGRI (Jan. 20-Feb. 18).

Put your social juggling skills

— drop-in guests and family visits — to good use.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20).

A windfall connected with your family or career puts a long-term obligation behind you at
